

A workshop “Global Perspectives in Convergence Education” - sponsored by NSF, OECD, the US National Academies and the University of Southern California - was held on 2-3 November 2017 at the National Academies Sciences Building, Constitution Ave., Washington DC. The workshop included breakout sessions to identify challenges/opportunities associated with convergence education and actionable recommendations. This presentation will summarize the results.